Keystone Canine Training Club offers group classes that will teach you how to happily co-exist with your pet. We do this by using positive reinforcement (no harsh corrections). Our methods teach your dog to think for itself and make the decision to follow your commands.

All dogs are not created equal. What works for one dog may not work for another. We take you and your dog into consideration and teach you the methods that will work best for both of you.

See the inside of this flyer for a description of our courses.
